One of the many peaceful scenes in Greentown.

It is usually easier for people not to do a thing than to do it. Taking an out instead of an in. Are the students of EHS more prone to taking outs rather than ins? This is a debatable topic. Seeing someone with an English book propped up and open on their desk does not really mean they are studying. Is there a magazine behind that book? An in or an out? An exciting ball game is a place for some to go when they are bored of home; for others it is a place to participate and show spirit for their team. Which one is it, an in or an out? This yearbook will attempt to show at Eastern the . . .

Ins and Outs

THE SWINGER

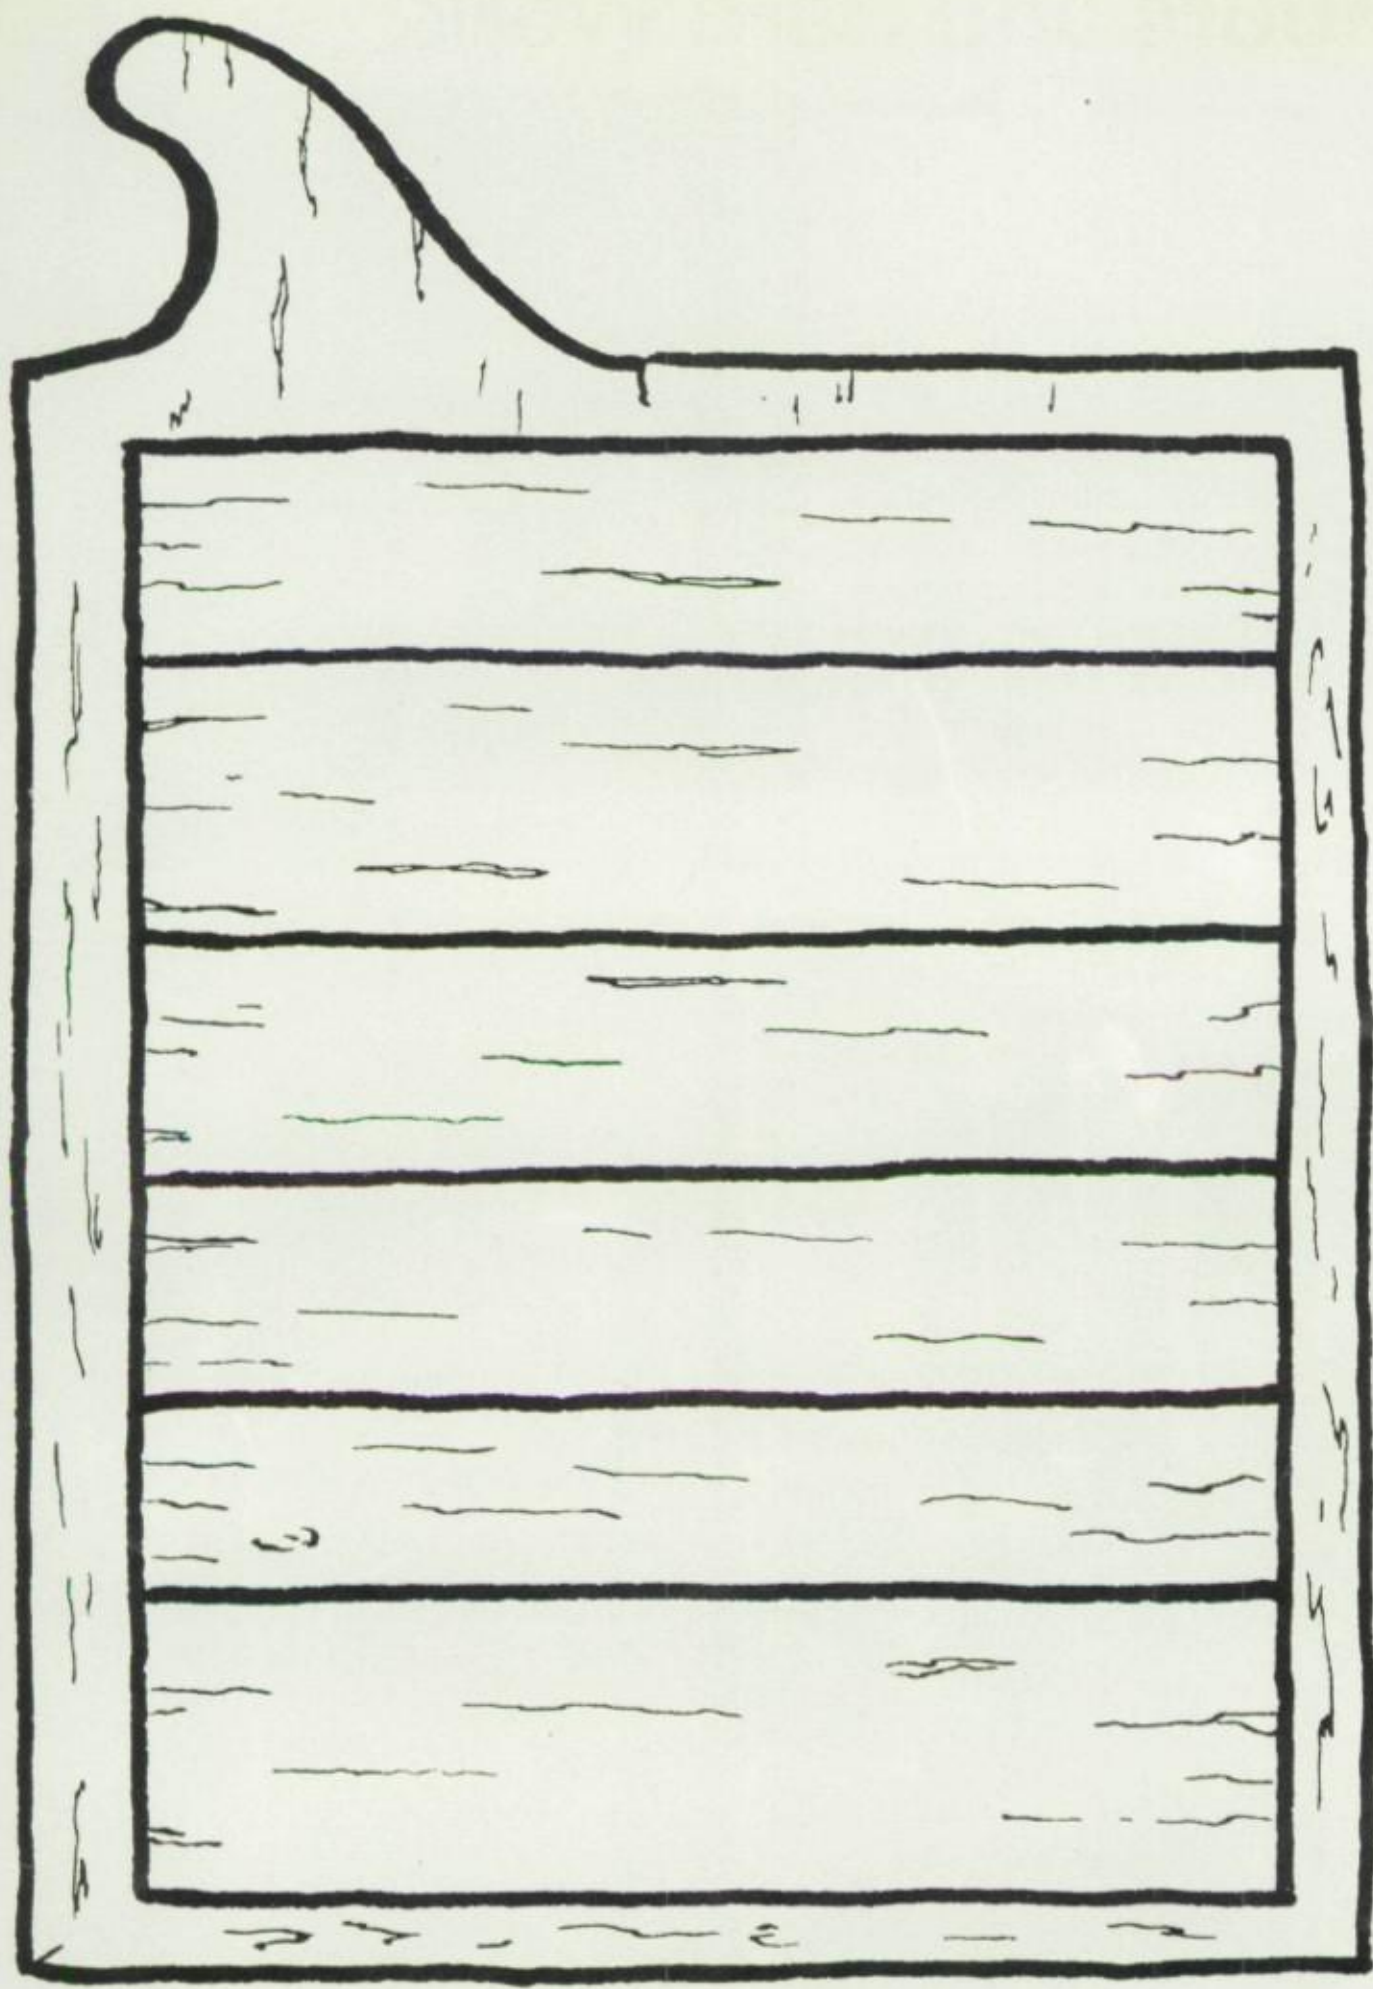

A swinging door works both ways. As the academic year for 1974 drew to a close many seniors saw twelve years of education drawing to a close.

Others saw it as merely the beginning — college, a new job, a new future.

In the midst of proms, graduation, and homecoming there was little time for reflection. As a crowd of students rushed through the door one way another group came rushing back as it began its return sweep.

Those preparing to shut the door were met by those determined to open it. The ins and outs of student life — Come on in and take a look.

Long Hours and Hard Work

September brought about the annual magazine sales for Juniors. Officers were elected and committees were chosen. Vice President Pami LaRowe started work in early January trying to put pieces together and keep things from falling apart. A band was chosen and each committee made their plea for more money.

The entrance to the prom set the mood of a garden scene.

Love Potion #9

"Last one up is a Taylor Titan!"

Real or not, the fountain added a special touch to the setting.

Activities began at 3:05 on April 26 for Juniors with decorating until the early morning hours. Through all hardships, faithful sponsors, Mrs. Linda Wernke and Mr. Emmett Herr stuck by them. When crepe paper could not be found, all hopes were not abandoned. A mad trip to Kokomo resulted in a last minute purchase. When 12:30 struck on the clock, the everyday cafeteria was transformed into a beautiful garden. Finally, on April 28 this fabulous weekend ended. A great success for all involved. Truly, one of the nicest proms ever held at Eastern High School.

Work, work, work! That's all I ever do!

Reflections of Love . . . '74

Randy Foland and Carol Summers — King and Queen

Couples enjoy dancing by candlelight.

. . . romantic couples, shimmering mirrors, pale lights, and love to remember tomorrow.

This is how the Junior-Senior Prom 1974 will be remembered.

"Now remember, the fork goes on the left."

Couples begin trickling in as the prom begins.

Seniors face graduation with varied emotions.

No one knew what to expect, except that everyone felt they were going to trip going up the steps. It was hard to visualize. They were leaving Eastern High School for good. As Sandy Shrock went up to receive her diploma, there were very few dry eyes in the crowd. They were all recalling the months of agony she went through after her accident. Now, there she was, graduating with the class of '74. Susan Murphy (valedictorian) and Randy Hainlen (Salutatorian) pronounced the farewell speech marking the class' last year at Eastern.

Ruth Harris follows tradition in directing the band.

For Seniors, End Marks New Beginning

Mr. Seagrave hands Dan Echelbarger his diploma with hearty approval.

Mr. Frakes master-minds the ceremonies.

Even rain couldn't dampen Cathy Grant's graduation spirit.

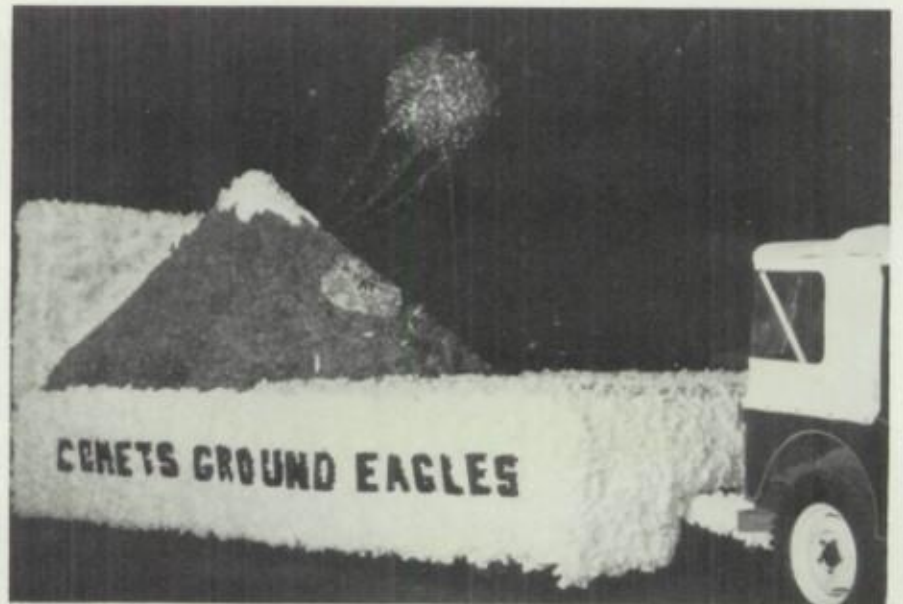

Top honors were earned by Seniors with their flying comet in "Comets Ground Eagles."

Homecoming was a special night, not only for football players, cheerleaders, and the like, but especially for sparkettes and band members. Their long awaited uniforms finally came in with a spectacular showing at the parade and halftime. The floats were very well done this year as usual with Seniors coming in last for completion. But it was worth it wasn't it Seniors? And our cheerleaders kept the fans backing the comets.

Tying for first with "Eagle Kneagle Fails Again" Sophomores show their spirit.

New uniforms and routine of the sparkettes dazzle onlookers.

An Active Week — Homecoming

Thinking maybe they could wish a victory Juniors say, "Wishing Comets Well."

Spirits are lifted by determined cheerleaders as victory is doubtful.

Freshmen thought they could make the Eagles dance a jig in "All Eagles Can Do Is The Funky Chicken."

Proving their ability, the band, in their new uniforms, gives an astounding performance.

Excitement, Winners, Memories

Tom Roseberry forges ahead for extra yardage against Oak Hill.

Coach Rice contemplates Comet's next offensive move.

American Legion raises the traditional Cogdell Flag.

The over-capacity crowd of the homecoming game reflected the excitement felt by the students during homecoming week. The student council did a sensational job on activities for the annual event which included a Mr. Chest contest between the ball players, Sock-it-to-em Day, 50's Day, Green and Gold Day, Hoe 'em down day, and the Slave Auction. Eastern's lovely Queen and her court could not have reigned over a more memorable game. The flag used at the game was the same flag that was used at the burial services of William Cogdell for whom the football field was named.

'74 — Bad Year for Farmers

The creek went down so far, cars could drive where water once stood.

The year of the drought. Many farmers labeled '74 as one of the worst years for crops. But it was not only the drought during the summer months which proved fatal to crops. As the worn cliché goes, "when it rains it pours." Spring came with an abundance of rain that made planting a near impossibility. Farmers patiently — and then impatiently watched the sky for a sign of relief. Relief came — and came — and came.

The dry spell lasted throughout the summer, stricken crops and the entire area. "Green" town was no more. Then, as if the drought were not enough, an early killing frost left many farmers with only half of their crops to harvest. For the final devastating touch the rains returned. October stretched into November and still the rain continued. It was a year many people would not forget — especially the farmer.

In stark contrast to the picture on the opposite page, the creek rolls gently along, filled to its banks with pure, clean, unpolluted water.

A farmer keeps his lonely vigil knowing in the back of his mind there is always the chance of crop failure.

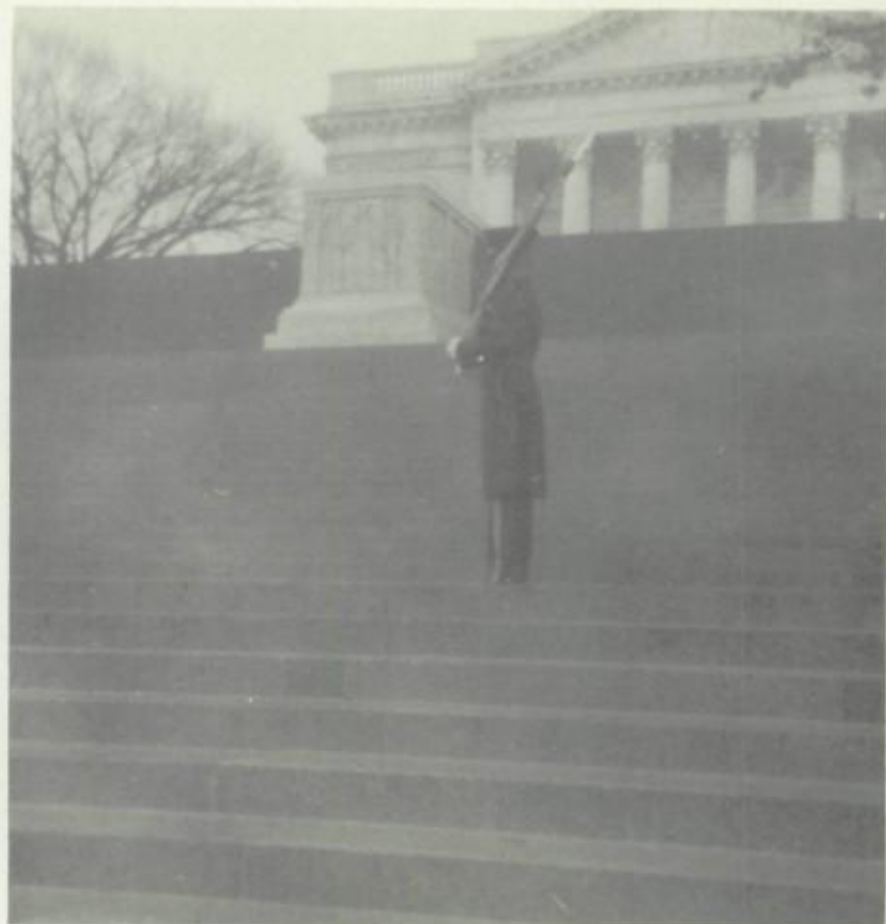

The seed's in the ground but nothing's comin' up.

A well-known landmark in Greentown, the McQuiston farm.

Seniors in D.C.

With plenty of "No Doz" on hand we boarded a D. C. 10 ready for our flight to Washington D.C. Despite the rain, the trip proved to be both educational as well as entertaining. We saw such interesting sites as the White House, the Capitol Building, the Smithsonian Institute, and the exact spot where Fannie Fox made her famous dive into the Tidal Basin. As we headed back for Greentown we realized some of the advantages of a small town.

A solitary guardsman keeps his vigilance.

Wide-eyed Seniors take in the Capitol.

The trip itself was comfortable.

"Wow! Is this neat! What is it?"

EHS Seniors Display Leadership

Jan Patterson and Gayle Froelich were 1974 Hoosier Girls' State delegates. Alternates were Bethany Oyler and Pami La Rowe. Dan Countryman and Ray Ashcraft were chosen as Boys' State delegates. Marty Eagle and Terry Seagrave were alternates. The American Legion Auxiliary sponsors the programs each year where participants are taught responsibilities of American citizenship. Feelings ran high all week, and a few tears shed upon arrival as well as departure.

The Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen Award is awarded each year to a senior girl. The faculty votes on the girls according to their dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism. The winner then takes a test based on these four qualities. This test is graded along with the tests of other D.A.R. winners in the country. The girl with the highest test score may then compete for the state title.

Recipient of D.A.R. award Pami La Rowe.

A Difficult but Successful Year

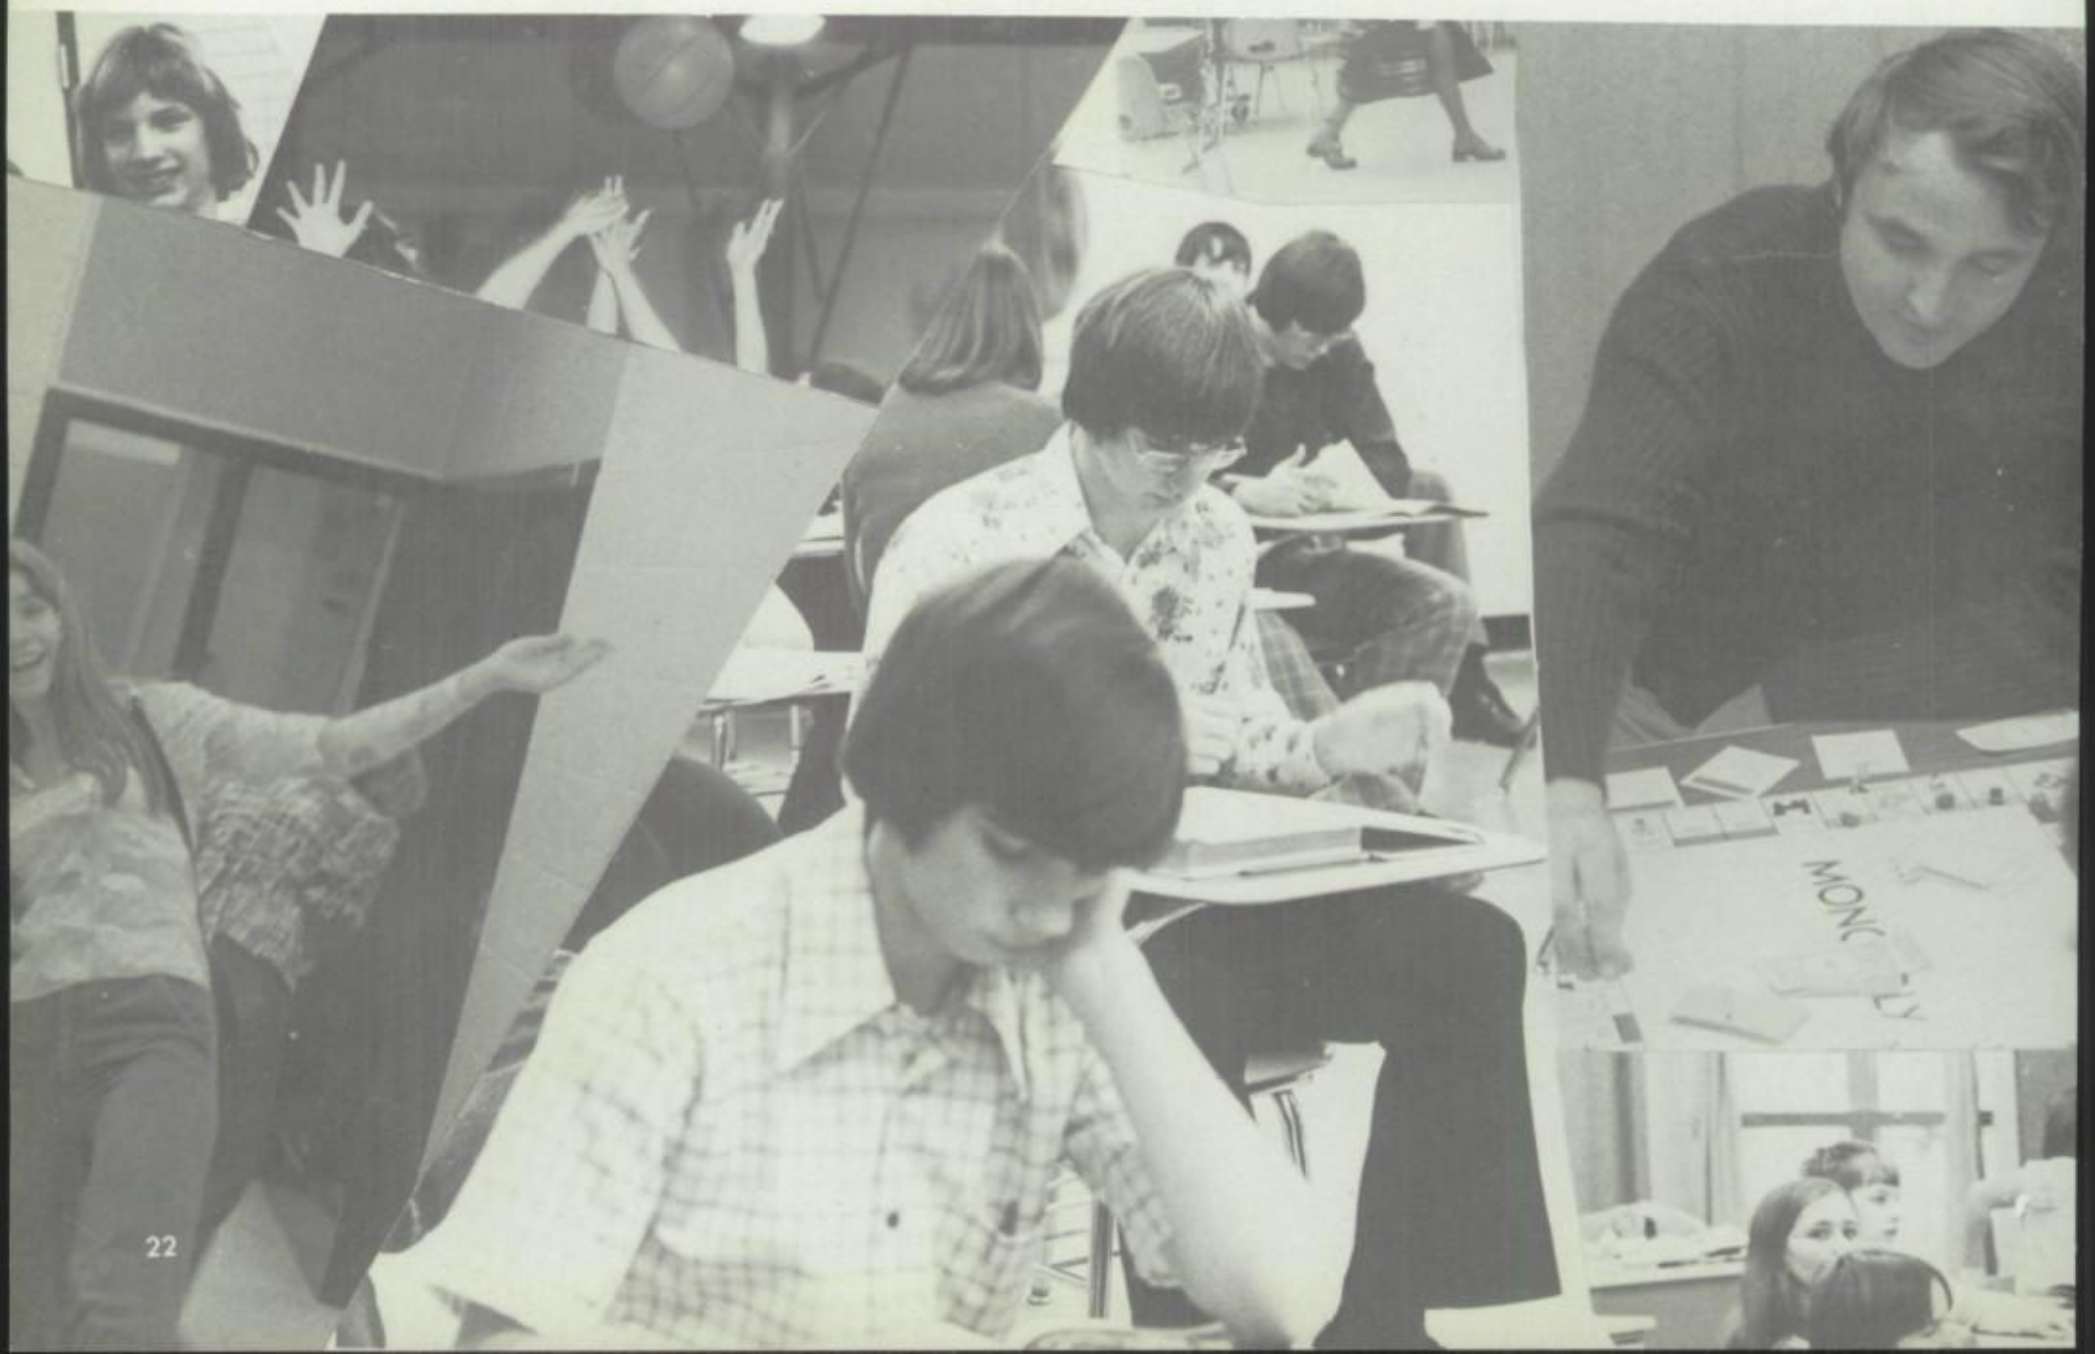

The 1974-75 Student Council was very active throughout the entire year. Some of their accomplishments were as follows: An orientation day for new students to become acquainted with the school before it takes up, Homecoming week and all the preparations involved in making it a success, M I C victory dance which was free to everyone, Fifties day and dance, and they approved a new way of cheerleading try-outs. Also this year the student council worked closely with the administration and the student body, constantly seeking ways of improving our present school system.

A Planned Happening

Familiar Places and

Greentown may be small, but to the people who live and work here, it's one of the best places in the world. Many of the young people, while in school, often are impatient to leave and get away from such a small town.

These feelings are understandable since everyone at some time in their life gets that "wanderlust" to see the world. But, after a while, most of those young people return at least to visit if not to settle down and raise a family of their own. Then, it seems, Greentown is not such a small town after all. It is a place where people can walk down the street safely and greet the people they pass with a friendly "Hello."

Hutto's — one of the more frequented establishments in Greentown.

Three very important institutions in town; all under one roof.

To students, many fond memories linger around the local drive-in.

Friendly Faces

At the soda fountain, many things take place. Farmers discuss crops and the weather, students talk about grades, and young lovers exchange shy glances.

Bill Lamb on one of his daily excursions to town for some needed supplies for school.

Where it all happens. Cogdell Field, home of the Fighting Comets.

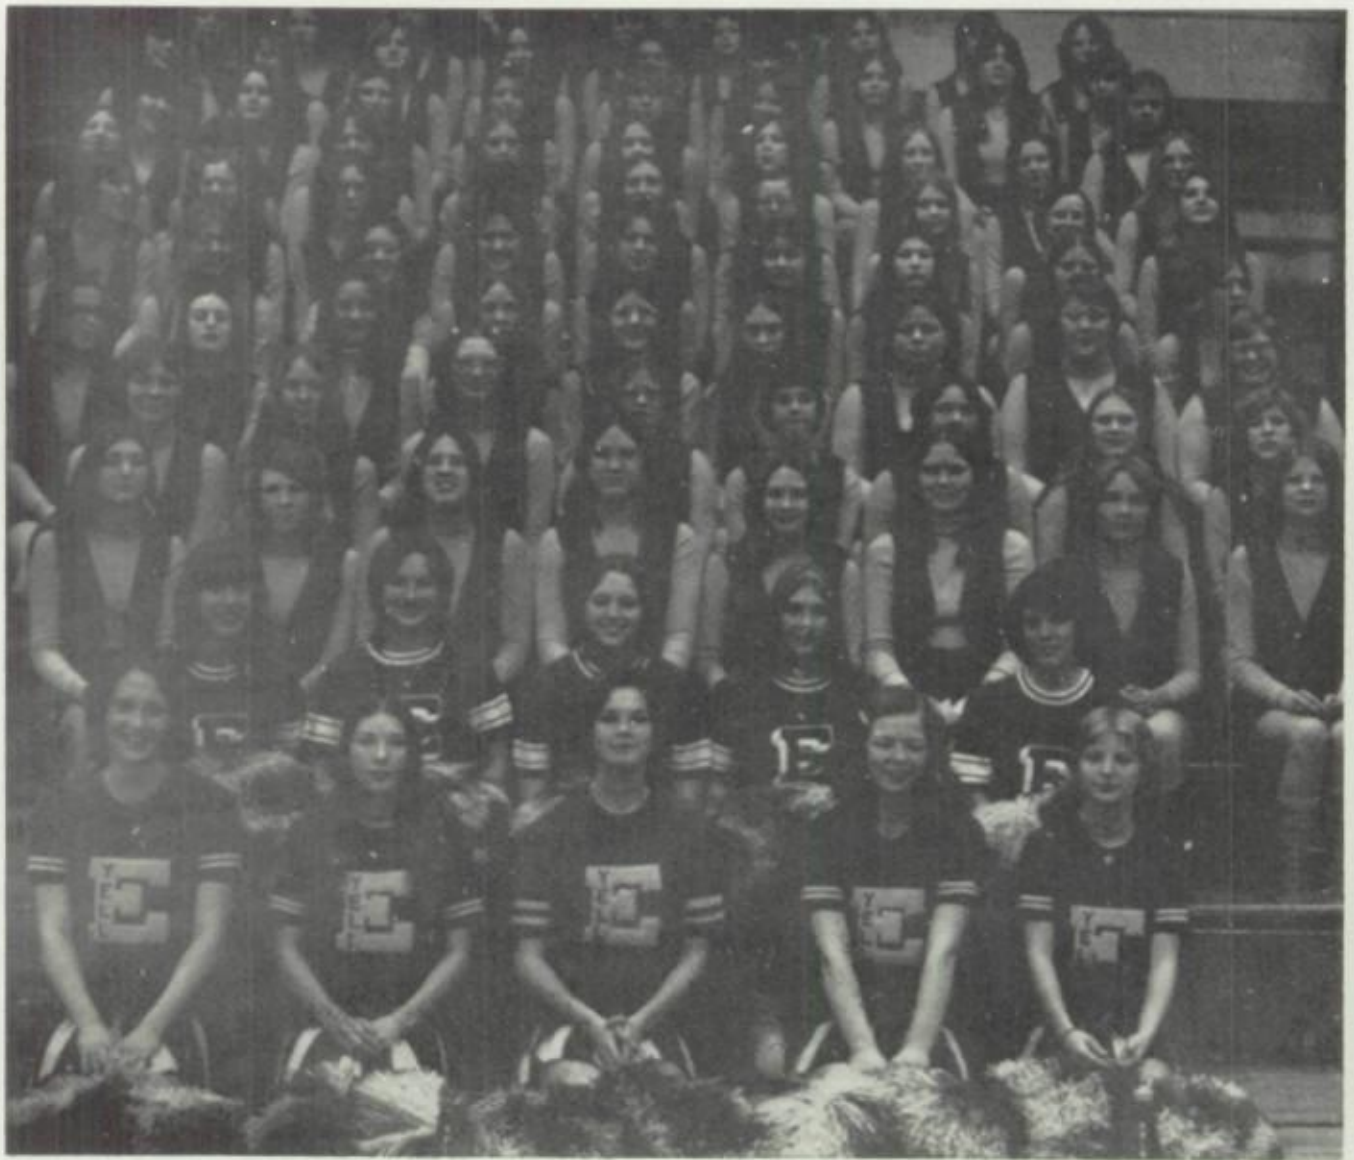

Comets Get Moral Support

The girls' Yellblock, sponsored this year by Mrs. Nicholson, supplied the fundamental scream power necessary at any good sports event.

Numbering around seventy, the girls really added to the feverish pitch of the basketball games and kept things from getting dull when the Comets were behind. Their constant support and loyalty will not be forgotten.

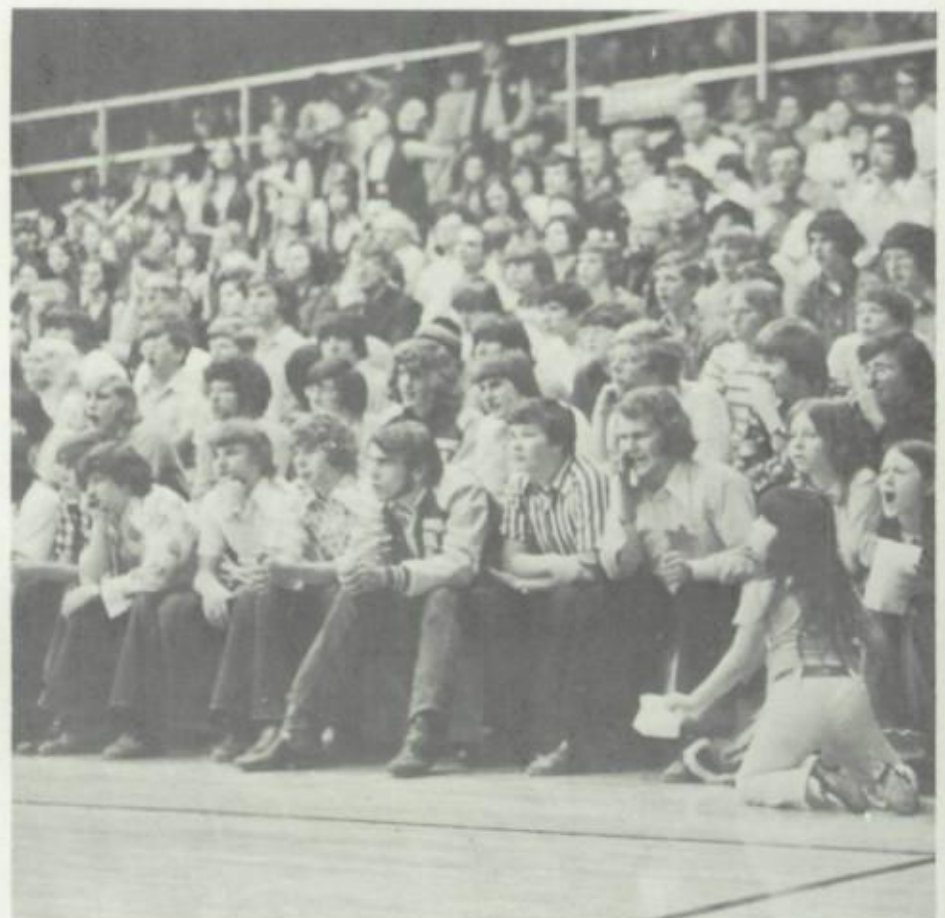

Another section of fans less appealing but just as vocal, was the boys cheer block referred to in the past as the "Dirty Thirty." Although the group seems to have grown in size, somehow the name still seems very appropriate. Nonetheless, the boys did a good job of maintaining school spirit and morale when the going got tough.

Girls' Yellblock — Due to problems of time and planning, the picture quality is not very good — editor's note.

Boys' Cheerblock — Small but very potent.

"E" also stands for excellence in Monopoly.

"E" Is for Excellence

The E Club is a group of young men who honored Eastern by their fine ability in the field of sports this year. To become a member, one must earn a major letter or have worked as a manager. It is a special group of athletes and something that all young men at Eastern strive for.

E Club members with sponsors Mr. Patterson, Mr. Rice and Mr. Dedaker.

Randy Foland — best attitude in sports.

Randy Foland was this year's recipient of the Craig Foland attitude award. Randy was selected as the athlete who most typified the attitude, stamina, and character which makes up the ideal athlete. This award had a special significance for Randy since it was his brother for whom the award was named. Congratulations Randy!

Foreign Exchange Students

GUILLERMO LEON

Guillermo made his home with the Kenneth Ashcraft family where he immediately found himself right at home. He loves pizza and the party-going that comes with it.

JOAO ARCOS

Joao was with us the shortest time of the three exchange students, but his infectious smile and friendly manner will not quickly be forgotten. Joao's home away from home was the the James Riley family. He is from Sao Paulo, Brazil.

LUIS MARTINS

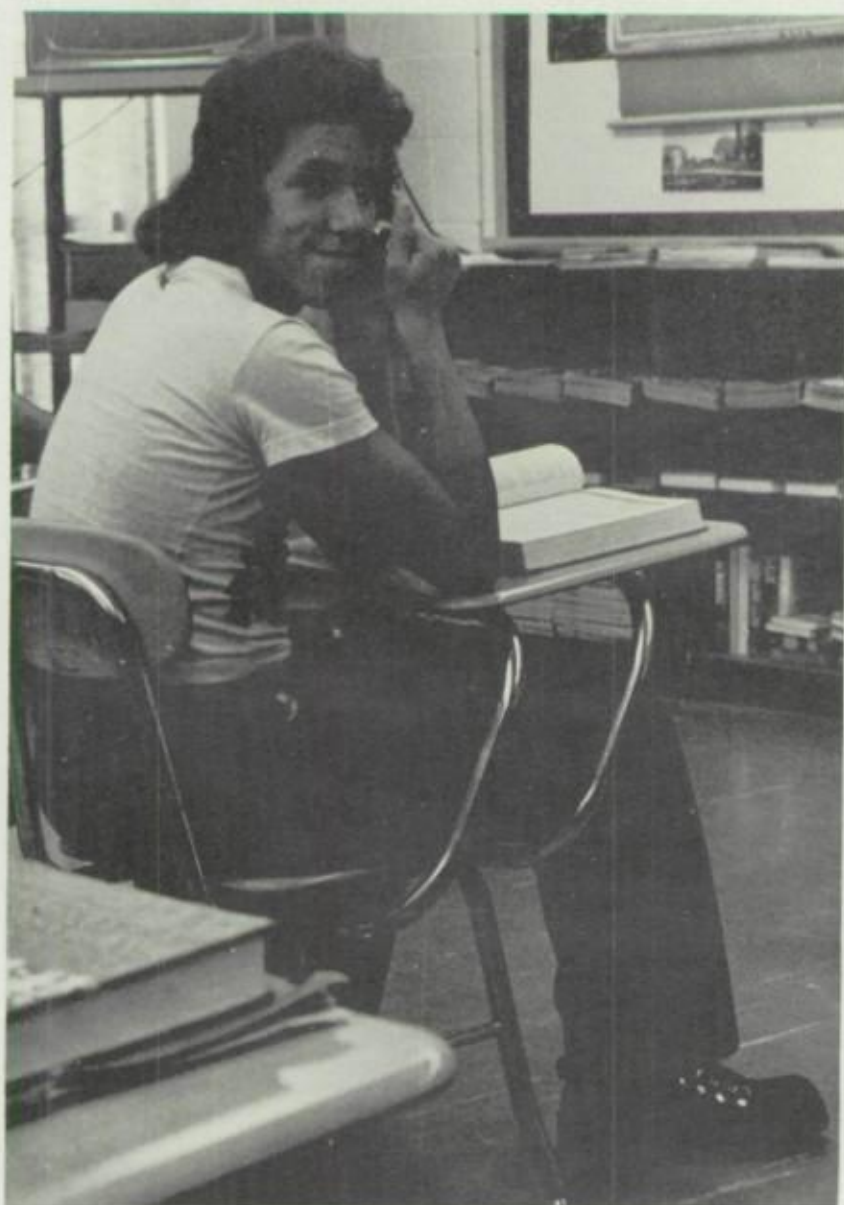

Luis is also from Brazil but his home is in the city of San Salvador. The Donald Cranor's welcomed Luis to their home, where he felt right at home and fit in like he had always been there.

Feel Right at Home

It is a fantastic experience to be an exchange student or to accommodate one. A time of sharing and benefiting from each others traditions and customs greatly enrich the lives of all involved. We feel that these three exchange students were exceptionally warm and receptive and they won't easily be forgotten.

Guillermo and Ken pose for the Aurora camera.

Joao seems to enjoy American History. North American, that is.

Seven new school records made a difference for the 4 — 2 season end. The team placed first in the class B Oak Hill Relays, second in the Western Relays and Howard County track meet, and fourth in MIC. A personal triumph came to Mike Nesbit and Randy Foland as they finished fourth and second respectively in their fields at the sectional. Both were in the regional and did a fine job representing Eastern. Mike threw his best, a 149' 11", but still didn't place.

Having a winning season in MIC play, helped in placing 4 guys on the all-MIC team. Marty Eagle was on the first team with Frank Brown, and Terry Kingseed making the second team, while Brad Riley made honorable mention. The season overall was 10-11 with many outstanding players. Frank Brown had a total of 22 hits with a batting average of .354. Marty Eagle stole 24 bases without getting caught and had the most errors. Brad Riley had 12 RBI's and a fielding average of .993. In the sectional the team won its first game against Tri-Central and gave the crowd an exciting game against Kokomo, but lost 3-1. The reserve team went 3-5 and had just as many outstanding players. Eric Foland had a batting average of .416 and Monte Stout .319.

MIC Champs!! 10-0 record and a rip-off to the state play-offs. Winning, a Comet football tradition seems to come easy for Eastern. The jamboree was won by the East which showed part of the Comet Power. Maconaquah gave Eastern a challenge but the Rat Patrol came to its defense. The next four games were shut-outs which built a season total of six. The Defense allowed only an average of 4.2 points per game. A standing room only crowd witnessed the Comets roll over Oak Hill for a Homecoming victory. Lewis Cass, being the only "king" in the way to the MIC Crown, gave the fans quite a scare. The game ended with everyone off their seats and on the field. For the first time at Eastern a "sudden death" overtime was used. The refs called, within inches, the Comets victors. The season ended with the Comets beating an old rival, Taylor. Then an unheard Garret goes to the play-offs by .5 points over Eastern in our district. What a rip-off!

Seventh grade had a 5-0 season with three shut-outs. Being their first year, this had to be an exciting one. The seventh began their possible football tradition early in their school years. The eighth was 1-4, and improvement over last year's 0-5 record. The reserve squad did not keep a record but had a losing season of 2-5. The reserves at Eastern are mostly freshmen. This puts them against guys a year or more older from the opposing teams. Coach Dedaker and Herr believe experience is the best for the guys, so everyone gets to enjoy the rough and tumble sport.

GAA provided an escape for the girls of Eastern High. An escape from school work, boys, and their conventional roles as "frail, delicate things." Once again the meeker sex proved they have what it takes to compete and compete well. Activities such as basketball, volleyball, football, and softball headed the list of events scheduled for the girls. In addition, gymnastics, bowling, and skating provided a pleasant change from the ordinary. The program this year at Eastern was a great success; however, now the girls want to take the guys on in a friendly game of tackle checkers — look out fellas.

Many things make up a winning team — coach, team, and student body. When all these work together then a victory comes on top. But for the Comets something was missing. A good coach? no, a good team? no, a good spirit-filled crowd? Well, no, especially the boys yell block. Maybe Lady Luck left us out this year. The team was 8-13 for the season. Brent Marner and Jeff Childs were Most Valuable Players. These two also were selected for the MIC team — Jeff was Honorable Mention. Brent was leading scorer and was 13-13 in MIC scoring in free throws. Jeff was next in scoring. Len Hainlen was top rebounder with 166 total. Ray Ashcraft was next in line with a 146 total.

The reserve squad broke a school record in season wins according to Coach Herr. The B-team was 15-5, the best of all teams in Eastern. Ed Novinger was top scorer with a 10.6 avg., Dave Clemans was close behind with a 10.2 avg. Ed also was leading rebounder and in assists. Dave had the best free throw avg. Rex LaRowe had best field goals avg. Ed, Monte Stout, and Eric Foland played both B-team and varsity, doing an excellent job on each. The freshmen did have some trouble. They were 1-11. Some of last year's players did not participate so Coach Rice had a restructure year. Terry Etchison and Gabe Eagle averaged 10 pts. apiece and Terry was leading rebounder.

The Eighth grade had a winning season of 7-4. Gary Middlesworth had a FG avg. of .500 and a FT avg. of .733. The team's scoring average was 55.3, part of the reason for a successful season. The Seventh grade had a 2-8 record and the B-teams for each grade had 0-5 and 4-2 records respectively. Coach Nicholson felt his team did a fine job losing many of their games by only one point.

Cheerleaders Keep on "Keepin' On"

YELL!! came the command from the cheerleaders, and with such force that most everyone did. Screaming, yelling, jumping up and down, getting mad at the people who didn't yell — that's what our cheerleaders' total energy went for at our games.

To help them better their abilities, the varsity squad spent an exhausting week during the summer in Kentucky doing exercises, memorizing chants and motions, and learning how to get along with cheerleaders from opposing teams.

The "Boogie Down People," otherwise known as our junior varsity squad, went to Franklin College for a busy five days for their further instruction in the art of leading yells. It was our cheerleaders spirit and energy that helped the players win those games. May the tradition continue.

The boys swim team was 3-8 for the season. With only two seniors the hopes for next year are high. Mark Cass and Frank Brown showed their ability coming up with many blue ribbons and in the finals for the sectional. Mark was voted Most Valuable Swimmer. The girls swim team was 3-4 in their second season. Most of the girls will return the next year so Coach Kistler sees a winning season. Terri Lockhart, Robin Blair, and Jill Duncan were in the finals for the sectional. Jill was in the 100 yd. and 50 yd. Freestyle. She was second in the 100 yd. and got to go to state. Robin was Most Improved Swimmer of the Year.

REVOLUTIONS

Filling classrooms and joining clubs is an in for some people, although others would rather take an out concerning class. Students grumble about having to take a certain course that is required, thinking it's not necessary for their future. In most cases they are wrong. A year of math or science they didn't think they would use comes in very handy at the most unexpected times. Every year new members join the clubs filling the emptiness left by the previous year's seniors; the attendance is kept up. Each year is a new cycle completed and life moves on. The revolving door symbolizes the simplicity of these cycles because they, like the door, are continuous. Time stops for no one.

To many people, Home Ec. just means cooking and sewing. However, any girl in Home Ec. Club knows it consists of many more things.

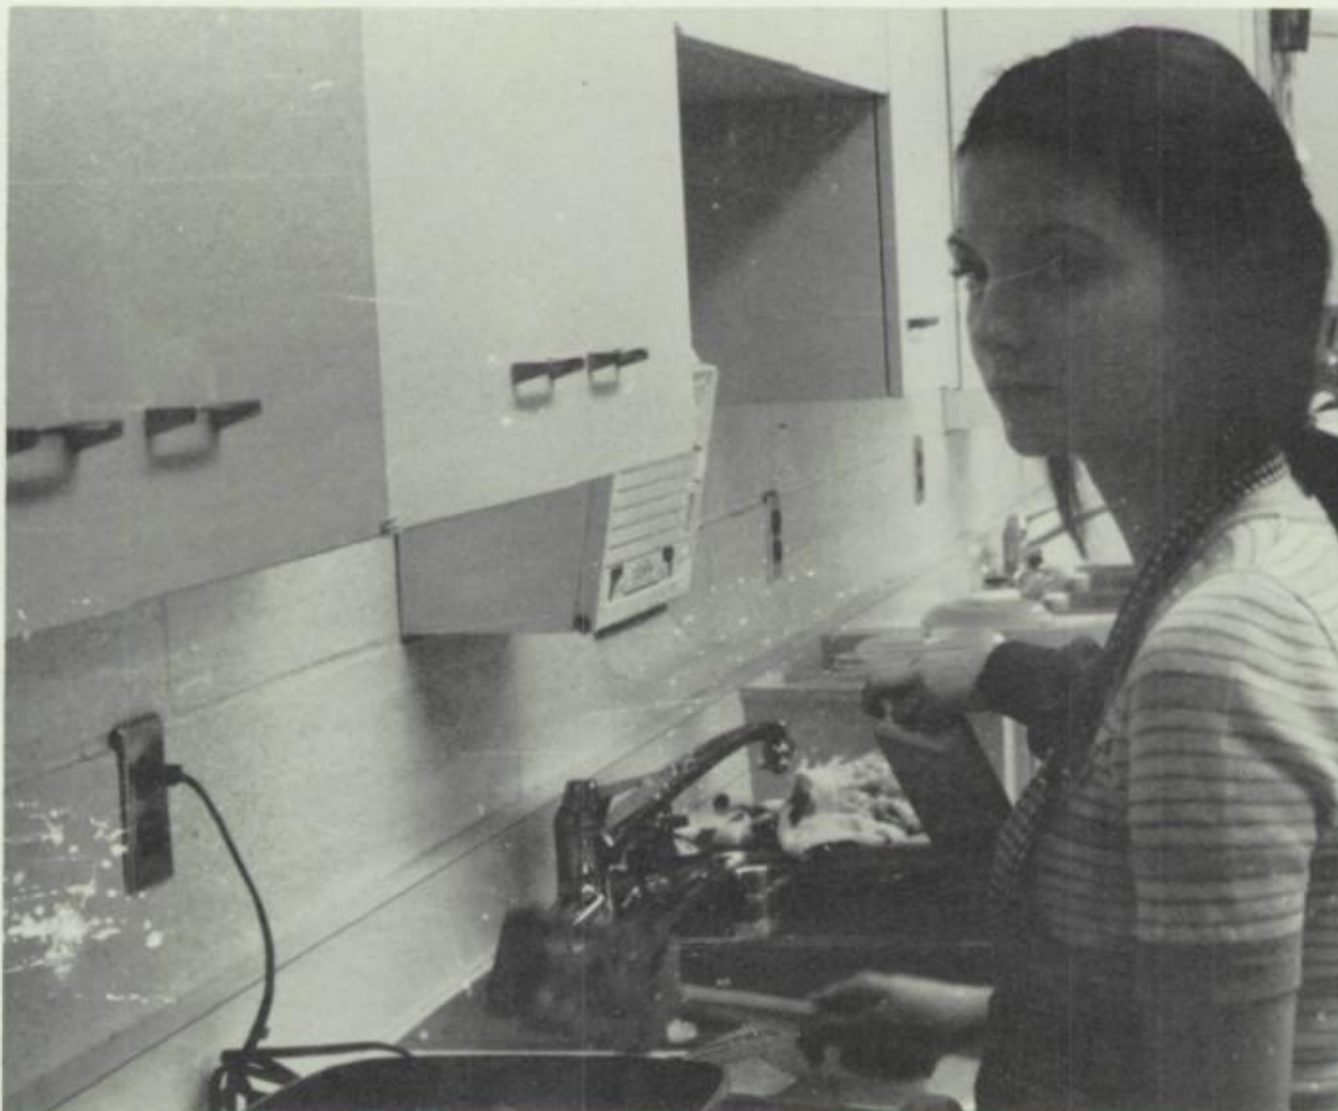

Debbie Gresley washes another experiment down the drain.

Some of the things include activities such as the Father-Daughter Christmas Supper, Valentine telegrams, Mother-Daughter Picnic, and making tray favors and taking them to a nursing home. The Home Ec. Club is open to any girl enrolled in a Home Ec. class during the current year or during a past year. The Home Ec. Department strives to incorporate an education in etiquette along with what may be considered more practical abilities.

"I don't care what the recipe book says!"

"Why doesn't my Shrimp Creole look like hers?"

Learning From the Past,

Not many changes in the Social Studies department. Another year has passed and with it, another year of history is added to the books. The history department added some more material to its stock of visual teaching aids via the television on Abraham Lincoln and developed the curriculum along the lines of social awareness as well as the academic skills related to researching and writing a term paper. The work was hard, but the results were good and rewarding to students who put forth the necessary effort to succeed in developing a familiarity with past events and an ability to draw conclusions about present and future events by extrapolating from the known past history of countries and peoples.

O.K.! Who threw that pencil at me!

Mr. Shrock cracks another corny joke.

Finders keepers, losers weepers!

Applying to the Future

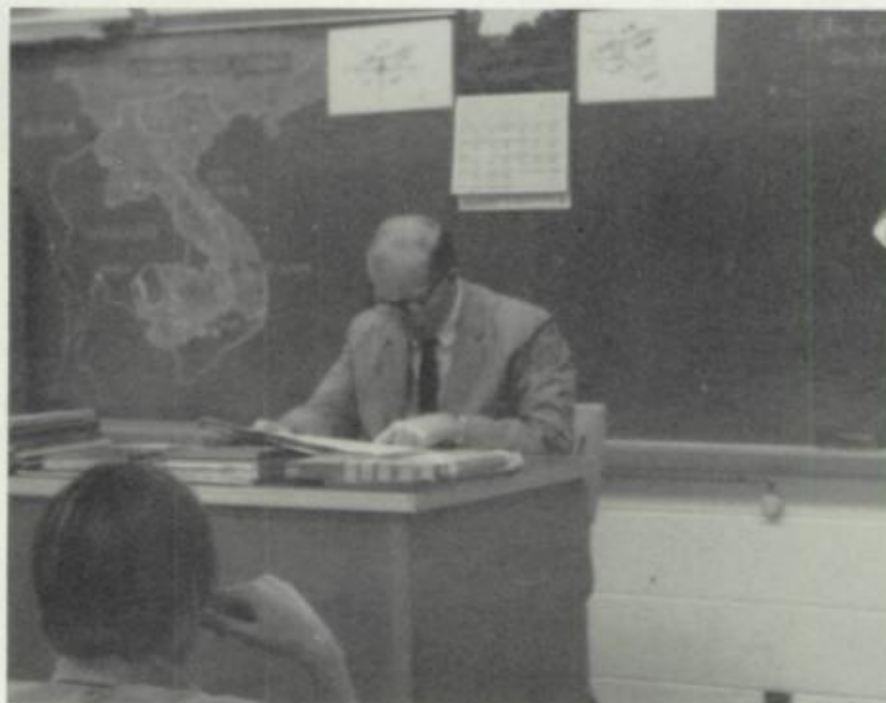

The only major changes in the social studies department were in the staff, Mr. Shrock, a graduate of Ball State University joined the force as a middle school teacher. While Mr. Rice moved from middle school social studies to World History downstairs replacing Mr. Funderburg.

P.E. Helps Students

As in past years, the Physical Education department sponsored a half time program. It featured some of the various activities offered by the P.E. program, such as rope climbing, tumbling and building a fifteen man pyramid.

The physical education program provided time for the students to escape from the routine of regular school life and unleash some of their tensions in a constructive manner, they did this by participating in such activities as swimming, basketball and gymnastics. They also spent time outside doing such things as playing softball, flag football and running track events. By doing so they strengthened themselves mentally and physically.

Math Aids Students,

What's $3x + 7z + 3(9y + -5x) + 2$?
Hopefully after taking one of the offered math classes, that and other similar questions can be answered correctly.

Students are offered courses ranging from Basic Math to Advanced Algebra, these classes aid students in everyday life. Just think, without math one wouldn't be able to count their lifesavers to see if they had enough to give any away or other important things like that. So math benefits all in a "number" of ways.

This is an erased blackboard.

In All They Do

Miss Rebecca Carter joined the old favorites, Mrs. Wernke and Mrs. Waymire in the high school math department, teaching Geometry. Miss Carter, graduated from the University of Purdue and seemed to fit right in with the students and faculty.

Only one more day till Friday!

Finally! Peace and quiet!

Business as Usual . . .

At Eastern, that is. As business in the U.S. was unstable and unemployment continued to rise, the business students at EHS went on learning the business of business. In the business management and general business courses, the practical ends of running a business were shown. Bookkeeping and business machines were more refined in those specific subject areas. Typing I was the basics of getting to know your typewriter; but in Typing II more secretarial knowledge was acquired.

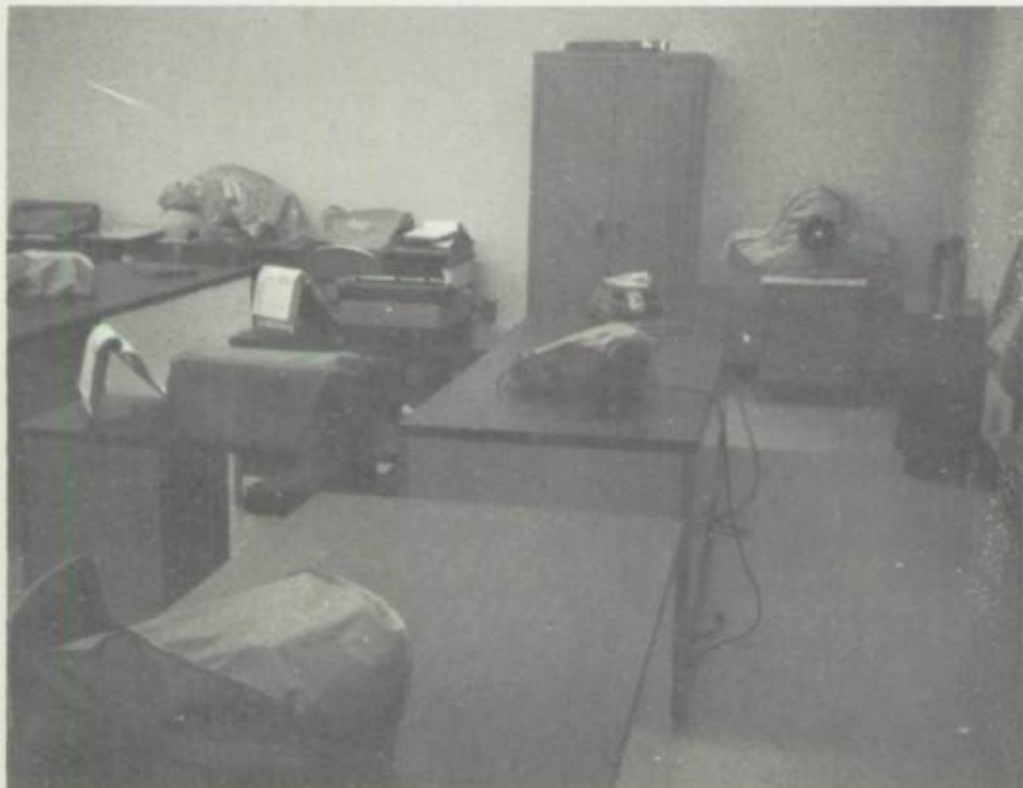

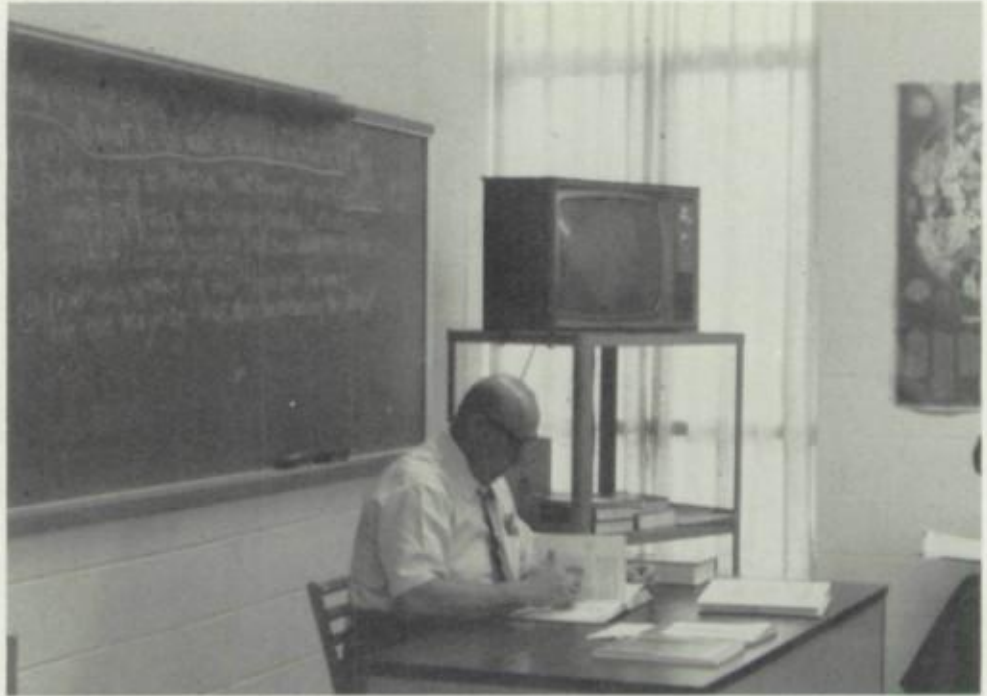

Shorthand was a convenient subject to have if there were other courses that needed note taking, but it went far beyond that. Business law was what it implied with a little practical personal law thrown in.

FBLA took its annual trip to Ball State for the convention. The members stayed overnight and participated in voting for state officers and in the spelling contest.

English — the Forgotten Language

To many students at Eastern, English is indeed a forgotten language. The ability to distinguish a participle from a gerund may not be a matter of life or death; however the ability to think and reason clearly and argue convincingly are objectives which the English department strove for in its study of literature and the language itself. Writing a good essay or creating a literary masterpiece were goals that all teachers had for their students, but which obviously could not be attained in every case. Nevertheless, the English classes at Eastern did succeed in stimulating many students toward improvement in their writing and reading skills but more importantly, students learned to think for themselves, to read critically, to discriminate fact from opinion and most of all to appreciate life and to respect themselves as individuals. Highminded goals and achievements to boast of, you say? Perhaps. But the students of Eastern High School are proof of the high standards of the school and of the English department.

During the year, the Freshman classes studied grammar (Yuk!) and even worked up a small play about King Arthur and his knights. The Sophomores worked on the rules of usage in English and wrote stories in addition to reading novels and working on a play. Juniors continued the exploration of literature and researched current events while improving their writing techniques and style. Seniors studied literature also and worked on term papers the second semester. Each year more advanced levels of grammar and writing were developed and more advanced methods of analyzing and criticizing literature were studied.

Mr. Stahl's elocution inspires awe in his students. (The ones who are listening.)

Speech

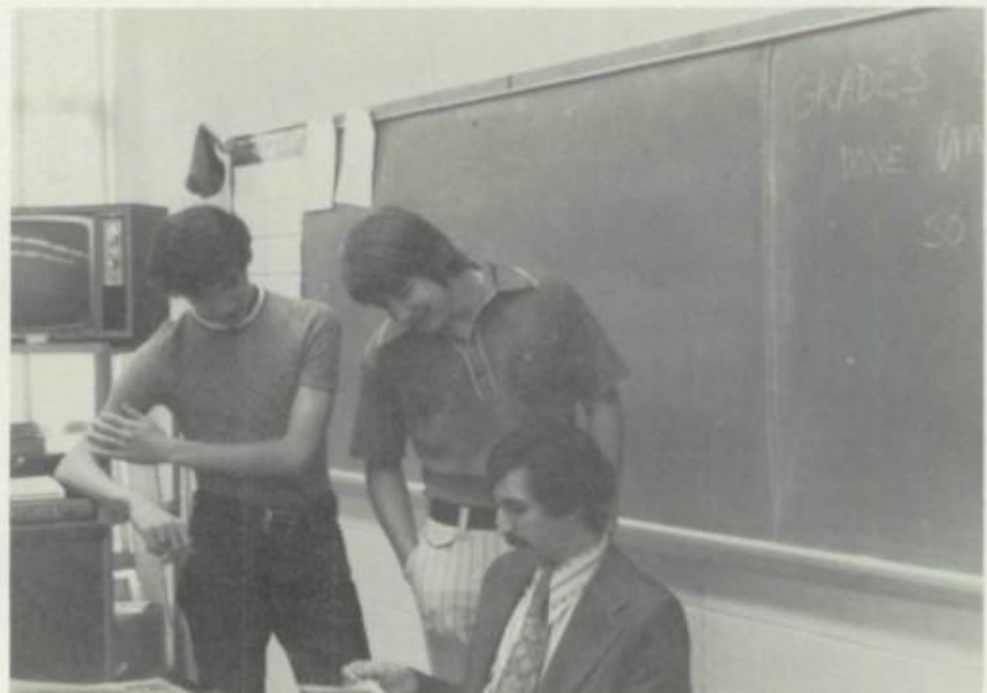

Mrs. Lantz, department head, appears to be very absorbed in the lunch menu.

Public speaking is a part of the English curriculum which is often overlooked. Miss Joyce's speech class worked on the fundamentals of public speaking during the first semester giving small informative and demonstration lectures. Second semester Speech consisted of more advanced techniques of speaking, making use of oral interpretation and dramatic speaking. Some work in mass media speaking techniques was also done.

Latin Students Study Hard

Students of Latin learned that there is a lot more to language than just memorizing some words and lines of the language. Mrs. Waymire's class not only studied vocabulary and phrases, but learned the grammatic rules of Latin as well as the idiomatic phrases unique to the language. It was hard work and many times it seemed that no one would ever learn enough latin to even get by in Rome. But at the end of the year, students could look back and appreciate the work that was done and convince anyone that latin is not a dead language.

Spanish Class a Real Hot Tamale!

It has often been said that there was never a dull moment in Spanish class. How true! How true! Even on slow days students could expect Mr. Myers' cheerful face or Mrs. Smith's easy-going manner to make the time bearable. Classes were filled with hard work but also some fun and interesting occurrences like the Spanish fiesta complete with tacos or playing Monopoly in Spanish. For many students the day would not be complete without Spanish.

Mr. Myers quizzes students on some dialogue patterns "Tre bien?"

Mrs. Smith, a bright face on those early mornings when everything seems blah.

"Smile, God loves you!"

"Boy, Mrs. Smith really thinks we're paying attention."

French — Parlevous?

Mrs. Lantz seems to be wondering where her class has gone.

Into its second year as a formal course at Eastern, French offered a new experience to students. Like other language courses, French challenged students to learn and assimilate a foreign tongue through memorization and constant repetition of stock phrases and, of course, the ever-tedious work in grammar (you think English grammar is tough?). Mrs. Lantz did a lot of oral work with students helping them to learn the correct pronunciation of the tricky spellings. The French class also had their own little gourmet's delight in the form of a special dinner prepared and eaten by the more courageous students in her class. How was the chocolate mousse? (or is it Mouse?)

In addition to learning the language, French students learn about famous places in France such as the Arch of Triumph.

Another, probably more famous French landmark, the Eiffel Tower.

The End of a Tradition?

Tradition seems to be a fading part of Eastern High School. When the subject of the Honor Society Banquet was brought up this year some of the junior and sophomore girls did not want to wear dresses.

Ridiculous, said the seniors; when the Honor Society goes out, it dresses for the occasion. Well, this year it may have dressed for the occasion, but whether it acted the part was debatable.

Setting a new record for girls in one small bathroom (16) and tearing off pieces of the tablecloth for paper wads did not really seem like the actions of an Honor Society. Of course, when it's nicknamed the Crazy Club of EHS by its own members, one can't be too sure. In past years the Honor Society has been known for doing good deeds in school and around the community. But what most people don't know won't hurt them.

Attendance was down at the banquet this year. Maybe that was part of tradition too.

The band made an exceptional showing this year both on the field and in the auditorium. At football games the band, along with the twirlers, drum majors, and sparkettes, put on a spectacular halftime show.

The Christmas concert that was aired over radio added a special touch of elegance to the festive season. Mr. Whorwell and Mr. Steiner could be proud of their joint efforts in producing one of the finest programs to be presented at Eastern High School.

The stage band, with its production of Opus #7 showed what light jazz is all about as they entertained a large part of the Greentown community in high fashion.

The entire year could easily be called a success for the band department.

The various choirs at Eastern worked very hard in putting together a number of programs for the benefit and entertainment of both the student body and the public. Beginning with a very successful Christmas program in conjunction with the band, the high school, cadet, and eighth grade choirs displayed their talents again in the school's Spring concert. Under new direction by Mrs. Holly Shafer, the high school choir participated in the Howard County Festival held at Taylor High School and the Sectional contest as Lewis Cass.

The Cometones, a group of select singers ran the circuit by performing mostly for private groups and clubs. These young people, dressed in their flashy outfits thrilled many audiences with their selection of light pop songs.

Newspaper Shows Determination

The newspaper staff for 1974-75 was faced with several problems at the beginning of the year. First of all, the majority of the editorial was totally inexperienced in journalism and mass communication. Along with this, a great deal of advertising had to be sold to cover the rising printing costs. The problems were many, but after about sixteen weeks of preparation, the Ellipse staff was able to put out a paper that appeared to satisfy most students and faculty members.

Frantic Deadlines for Annual . . .

Bethany Oyler checks type size.

This year's annual is dedicated to the 25th graduating class of Eastern High School. As always, much work was put into the annual. Although some trouble was experienced in meeting deadlines, it finally made the press to become a pleasant reminder to many students of their years at Eastern. Color pictures, one of the new features, makes this year's annual special not only for the seniors but all students of E.H.S.

Shop Class

"Hey Guys, Look — Girls!"

For the first time, the industrial arts class admitted girls this year. After all, what could be more effective in brightening up a room full of guys than a few girls? The plan worked. Shop became a haven for poor mislead love-hungry young men. A shop student could no longer say "Hey buddy, toss me that rag." Now he would have to say "Hey lady, toss me that rag." A minor inconvenience. The shop classes continued to develop industrial and mechanical skills, but now when clean up time came around at the end of the peirod, the guys spent fifteen minutes just moving things from one place to another. "No, now that I think of it, that engine block would look better over in the corner."

"I'll bet you guys think you're pretty funny stuffin' oatmeal down the intake manifold."

Future Farmers of America

The men of the Future Farmers of America were kept very busy this year but they enjoyed every minute of it. Besides their annual initiation, the FFA conducted a sales campaign which provided fresh fruit to people in the area in the dead of winter. The fruit (oranges and grapefruit) was shipped direct from Florida in time for Christmas. Like the other vocational classes, the FFA enjoyed a fine dinner prepared by the Home Ec Club. But most important, they learned how to cope with the economic and agricultural problems prevalent throughout the country.

John Garr, member of the FFA, hands Mr. Benninghoff a box of grapefruit, purchased from the club.

Sign making was the main occupation of the art club. Signs for halls, runthroughs, signs up in the gym, most of the large ones were made by art club. It took a lot of paint and artistic talent, not to mention imagination, to come up with all those signs.

Ceramics, macramé, stitchery, are a few things the art classes did this year. But before that everyone had to learn the basics — the color wheel. Oh, come on, everyone knows their color wheel, well maybe not. They would if they had taken art. Rugs and mobiles were made and art history was studied. One of the final steps in batiquing had the art room smelling like turpentine. The different types of art were enjoyed by different people and most artists found how much potential they had in their field of art.

Pam Roach appears to be enjoying her little art project immensely.

Science Is Electrifying

Students of science had many shocking experiences this year. Among them was a demonstration of the properties of electricity.

Studying the basic concepts of science and the scientific method did not seem like the most exciting work to Science 9 students; but things began to pick up in Chemistry and Physics where moles were something more than just furry little animals and waves could be seen in other places than the beach. Science opened up a whole new perspective on life for many students and provided the beginning of a brilliant career in geology, chemical engineering, metallurgy — who knows?

REFLECTIONS

Faces of people, places of business for people to recognize and remember.

The glass doors are the introduction to these. Every year when pictures are taken and returned, grimaces are seen. No one thinks they take a good picture. Only seniors, for the most part, are proud of their pictures. Money was tight this year and advertising was difficult to come by. Much appreciation is felt toward all the ones who have ads in this book. They are the ones who took an in, not an out. Take a peek through the doors and remember.

Silver Anniversary Class Changes Traditions

Baccalaureate and Commencement were combined this year for the first time and the class of '75 graduated on Sunday, May 18. In keeping with the honor of being the 25th graduating class, silver and navy blue were chosen as class colors. Light blue carnations with navy blue streamers were carried by the girls. Graduation announcements were designed exclusively for this year's class, using a unique silver print. Silver diploma covers were another change in this year's graduation proceedings. The class of 1975 is proud to be Eastern High School's Silver Anniversary class.

Senior Bequeaths

I, Kenny Ray Ashcraft II, do bequeath my body to Freshman Biology Class to dissect and study in the name of science.

I, Frank Brown, do bequeath my diving suit to Keith Kubicek.

I, Ramon Cassis, do bequeath my "37" Ford Flamed Sedan to Reed McKinney, if he thinks he can handle it.

I, Sharlet Christy, do bequeath my locker to James Scott, because he is my handsome pet — so be careful with my pet.

I, Matt Clouser, do bequeath to John Ellis my best papers, so he will not have a single care next year.

I, Dan Countryman, do bequeath my Comet Pride and Spirit to the class of "76," and to the EPU, all my broken drumsticks.

I, Jeff Cranor, do bequeath my ability and willingness to work as a photographer for the yearbook.

I, Cheryl Davis, do bequeath my choice seat in Study hall (cold in winter, hot in fall) to whoever wants it.

I, Marty Eagle, do bequeath my teddy bear to Linda Roberts to keep her safe from the boogie man.

I, Mary Elam, do bequeath to any underclassman to express your opinions in Home Ec.

I, James (Goofy) Farley, do bequeath to my dear brother my almost priceless bathtub ring . . . and to those who know me from Mac's Place, come in and enjoy one of my special goofy burgers!

I, Gayle Froelich, do bequeath my voice box to next year's cheerleaders.

I, Cami Harper, do bequeath my lack of ability to bequeath.

I, Liz Hobson, do bequeath my salt shaker to Rob Guest.

I, Pam Horoho, do bequeath to Judy Mason the right to hassle Mr. Fields for Student Council.

I, Rex Honeas, do bequeath my trusty car to Jim Pittman.

I, Janet Howell, bequeath my long hair to Butch, alias Judy Mason.

I, Jody Hummel, do bequeath all of my old notes to Donnie if he ever comes back to Eastern.

I, Debbie Hunt, do bequeath my vice-presidency of "SCUM" to Anne Adams.

I, JoAnn Imbler, do bequeath to anyone dumb enough to take Chemistry, all of my harrowing experiences in getting labs in on time.

I, Mark Johnson, do bequeath to Jim McCalment my vast store of scientific knowledge obtained with Mr. Raymond.

I, Robin Julius, do bequeath the remains of my bookkeeping workbook to Marcia Miller.

I, Gary King, do bequeath my locker to my dumb brother Michelle Eugene King.

I, Julie Kingseed, do bequeath to any Junior girl the right to talk about anybody they want without a certain sophomore listening.

Marty Eagle looks as though he would like to get in on Terry and Robin's conversation.

Gayle Froelich can't seem to type enough love letters to Marty.

I, Karen Krapf, do bequeath my ability to stay awake while reading govt. and econ. to all of next year's Seniors.

I, Nan Kreps, do bequeath my old dirty bass clarinet swab to Judy Middlesworth, if she won't blow her nose on it.

I, Pami LaRowe, do bequeath to Jane Rees the right to flaunt her body and to watch "pearl fishers."

I, Nancy McCammon, do bequeath to Connie Lloyd my 4 autographed pictures of Howdy Doody, and 1 1930's record of Elvis.

I, Sandi McCulley, do bequeath to Jill Duncan my great drum major ability.

I, Marsha McLochlin, do bequeath my outstanding football ability to next year's Senior girls.

I, Larry Middleton, do bequeath all my cherry life-saver suckers to Judy Mason, Marcia Miller, and Barb Bannon.

I, Cindy Miller, do bequeath my ability to get along with teachers to all underclassmen.

I, Dan Minnich, do bequeath my talent of counting football equipment to Greg Harper.

I, Debbie Molino, do bequeath my faithful locker number 522 with the broken latch to my best friend Guen Lesly.

I, Bethany Oyler, do bequeath my initials (B.L.O.) and my pug nose to anyone brave enough to take them.

I, Jan Patterson, do bequeath my knowledge of portisands to the "Comet Cones" (Vanilla, Peach, Strawberry) and Garry Hartman.

I, Phil Petty, do bequeath my old oily swab and a box of water-logged reeds to Nancy Utterback.

I, Barbara Riddle, do bequeath Mr. Berryman to all underclassmen.

I, Connie Sagarsee, do bequeath my ratty blue robe to Barb Sagarsee so she won't have to walk around in just a t-shirt.

I, Terry Seagrave, do bequeath my drum set to Jamie McCalment, who helped me put them together.

I, Cathy Silvey, do bequeath my dislike of band directors to Marilyn Fights and Rhonda Matthews.

I, Suzanne Stahl, do bequeath my old blue bikini to Carol Davis so she won't have to go skinny-dipping any more.

I, Rick Ward, do bequeath my natural good looks to anyone who thinks they are capable of using them.

I, Ann Weir, do bequeath my locker #548 to the next lucky Senior. It has no coat hooks!

I, Vicky Whiteman, do bequeath my ability to skip class without getting caught to Kim Lawson.

I, Brad Winger, do bequeath all of my motorcycle riding ability to Don Armstrong. He needs it.

I, Steve Harper, do bequeath to Jeff Brooks the right to clean up the percussion section after Band class.

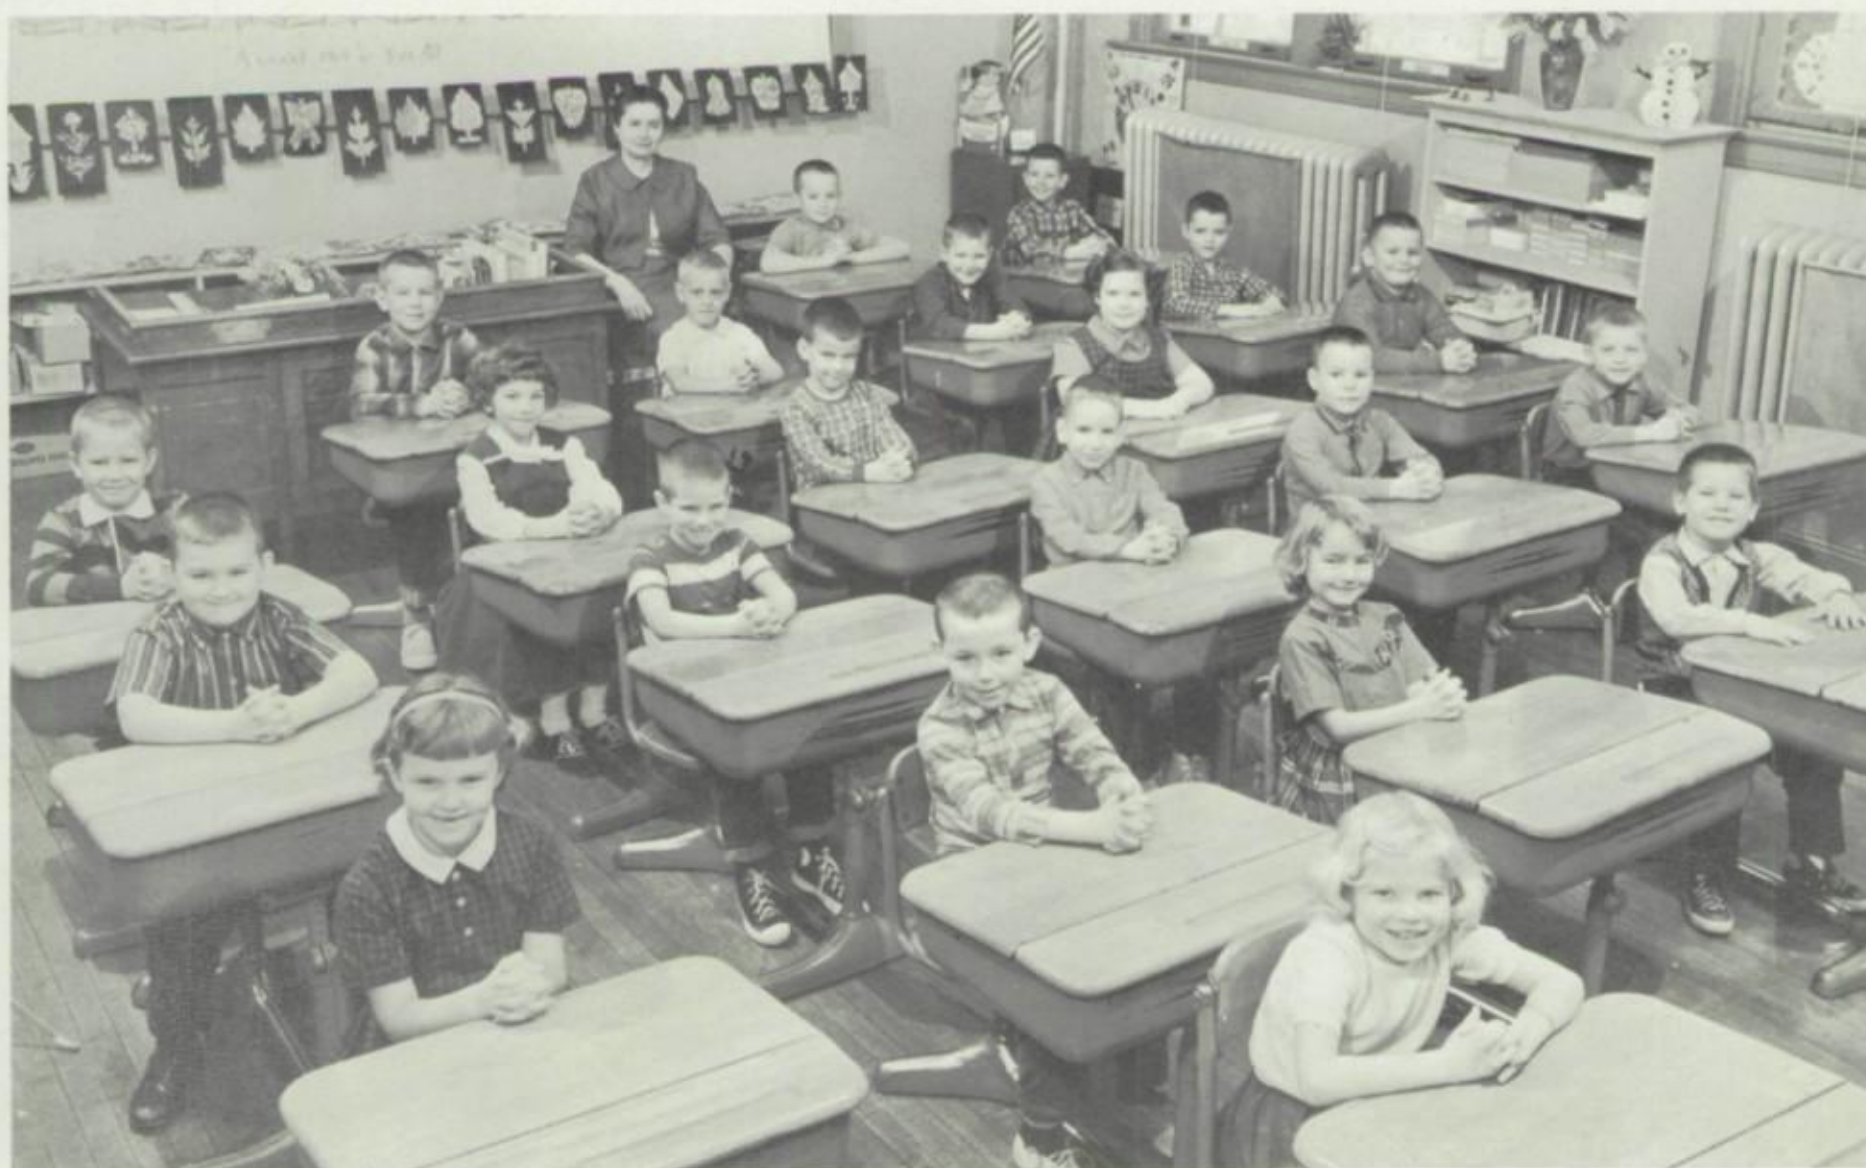

Remember When . . .

Seniors, remember first grade? The old wooden desks, the construction paper, the teacher's friendly smile? In case those memories are a little hazy in your memory, perhaps the pictures on these two pages may stir the cobwebs a little bit and remind-you of the joy of childhood.

Juniors "See the End Ahead"

The juniors ended the year with varied reactions. Many couldn't wait until their graduation, and watching the seniors' last days made waiting seem endless . . .

"One year to go!"

But the juniors could look back on happy times: games, band concerts, floats, worrying over tests only to find school canceled because of snow. And even though the annual magazine sale didn't reach the $5,000 goal, juniors were proud of a record sale of $4,400.

The class of seventy-seven enjoyed another fine year of high school as they moved up the ladder to becoming seniors. The sophomores enjoyed many more benefits of high school such as the long wait for Drivers Ed., class rings and jackets, and finally having the best homecoming float (although this title was hotly disputed by the seniors). It was a good year for the sophs, and everyone looks forward to next year.

After eight long, hard years of waiting, the class of seventy-eight officially became part of Eastern High. Although the wait was well worth it, the freshmen were challenged with more decisions to make and problems to cope with. They participated in High School activities such as homecoming and class meetings. The upper class may have been a little tough on them, but next year it's their turn.

That "Person" Behind the Desk

They come in and start asking questions about Shakespeare or the Battle of 1812. How should we know? How much is 3×5 ? Beats me! They seem pretty nice in the hall or lunchroom, but when we go to class they change. Sort of like Dr. Jeckyll and Mr. Hyde. We are only having a little fun but sometimes we get carried away. That's when they start yelling and turning purple — sort of neat to watch. The one in English class can be a real bummer sometimes. Vocabulary? I don't need to talk any gooder. We like them most of the time, but we'd just like to know — who is that person behind the desk?

Mr. Freelan explains a difficult economic principle.

New Principal Heads Office Staff

E.H.S. had a new principal this year, William C. Fields from Marion, Indiana. Before coming to Eastern he was "Dean of Boys" at Justice Jr. High School in Marion. He attended Marion College where he got his B.S. degree and received his Masters from Ball State University.

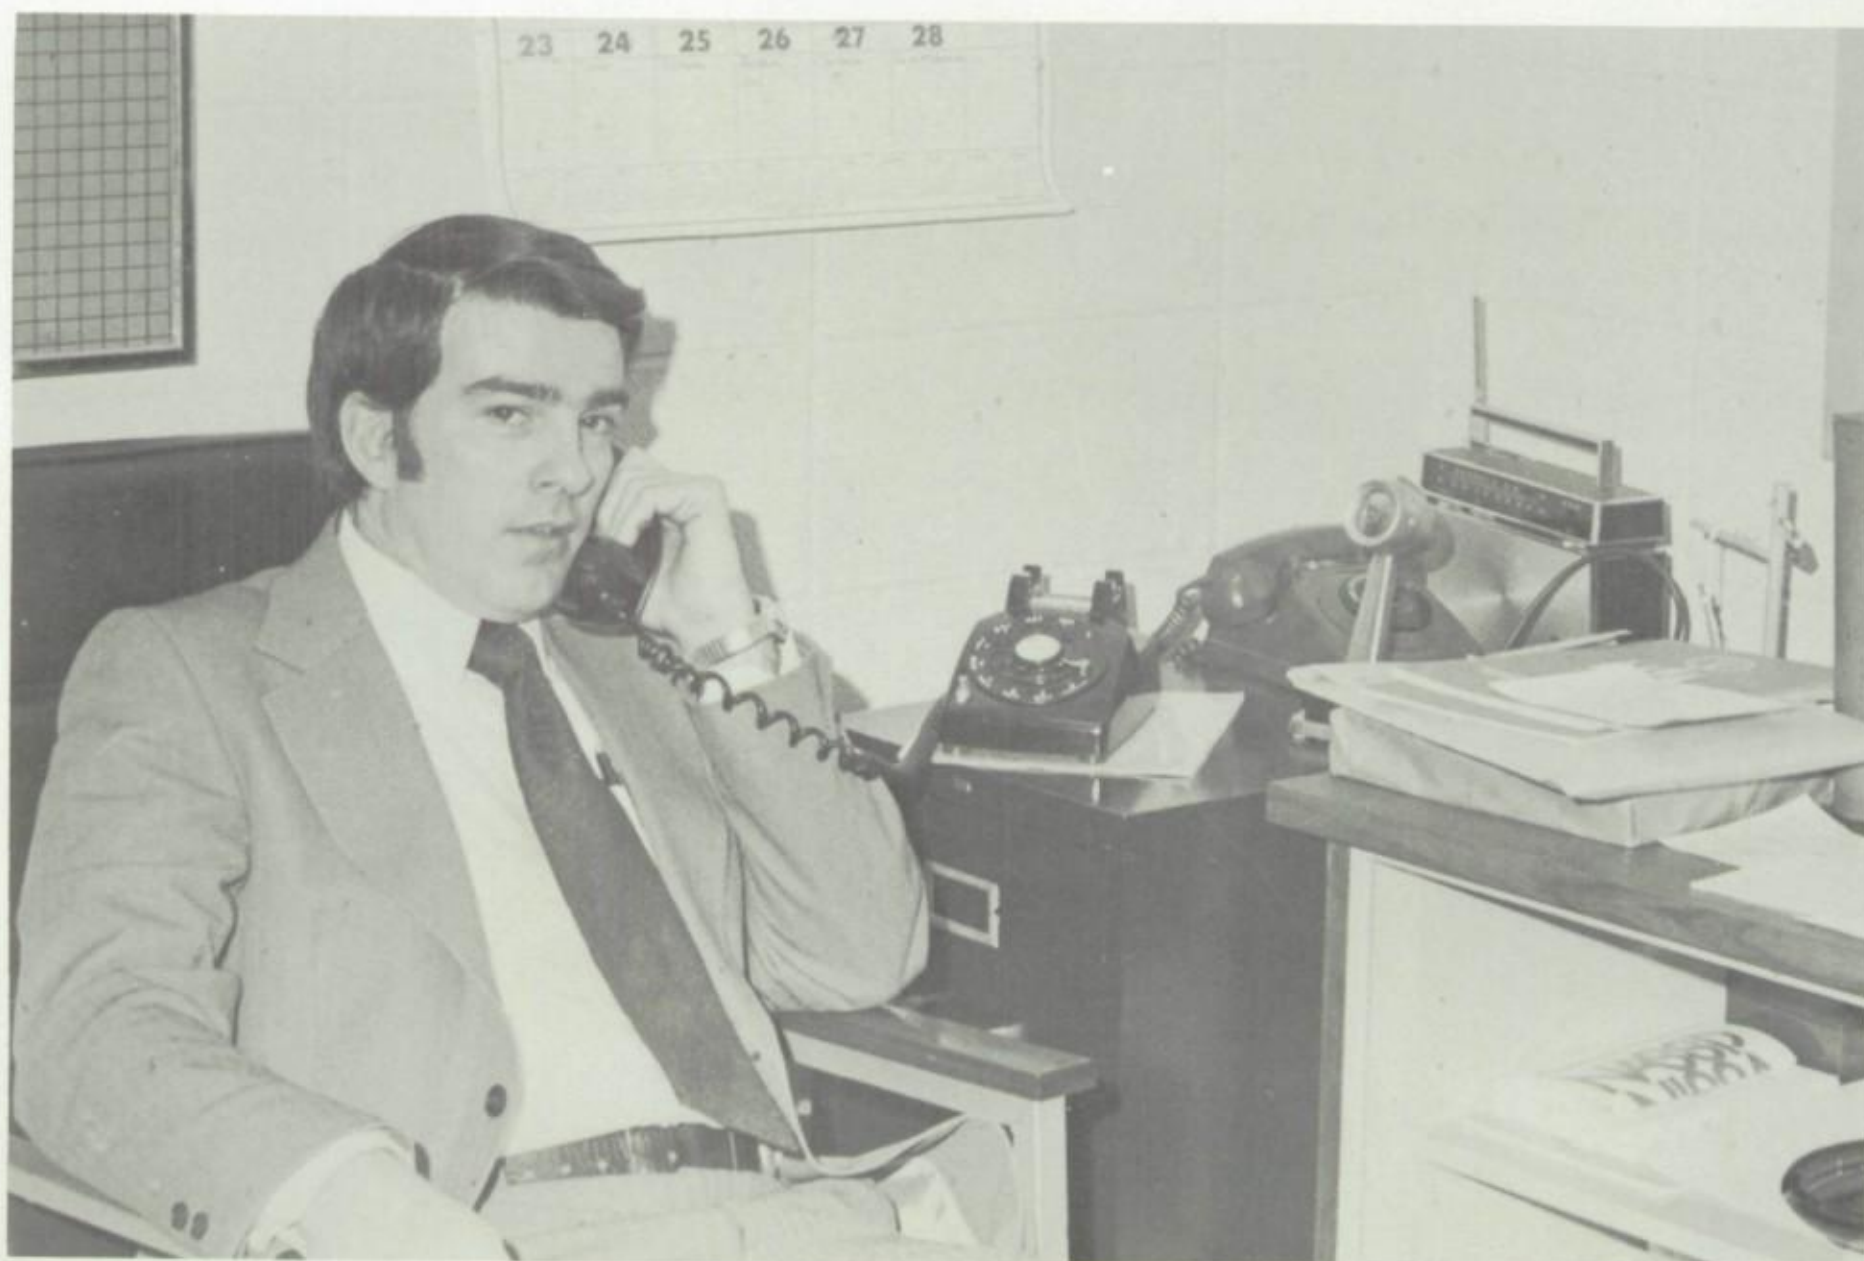

The office also had some other new faces; Mr. Richard Mugg served as athletic director in place of Mr. Richard Price who remained vice-principal.

In the counseling department, Mrs. Linda Wernke served as "Girls Guidance Counselor" to help Mr. Oyler provide for the needs of all the students on a more personal level.

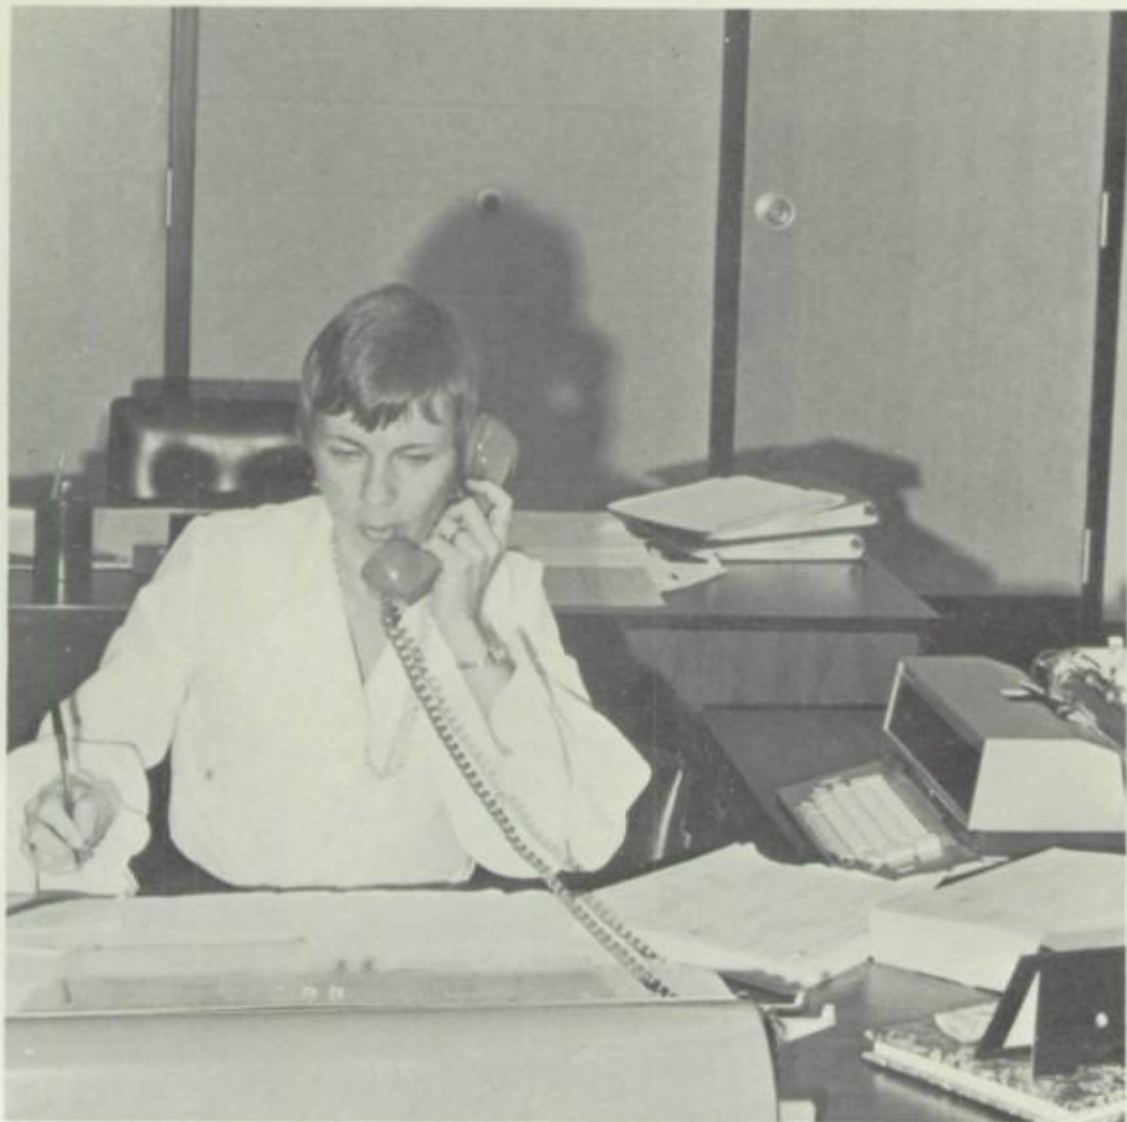

Finally, who could forget the personnel who really make the system go, our secretaries Mrs. Helen Fox and Mrs. Janet Mugg. All of these people working together made Eastern's Administration one of the best.

Middle School Student Council

The middle school student council sponsored by Mr. Hubbard served much the same function as the high school council acting as a go-between for the students and the administration. Basically, participation in the council gave students an idea of government and parliamentary procedure. Officers conducted meetings much the same as formal meetings are held in government, and issues concerning the school and student problems were discussed. The middle school council also gave students experience in leadership and cooperation which would serve them later in school and life.

"Seventh Grade? It's OK."

To a Seventh grader, one year is just like another. While the members of this year's Seventh grade class participated in many exciting projects along with the middle school and high school, time seemed to stand still. As the sixth grade was enjoying its newly acquired middle school status, the seventh grade could only sit back and wait.

New Beginning for Sixth Grade

Sixth grade was a whole new ball game. New teachers, new classes, and even a new school. The move from the elementary building was exciting for some and difficult for others. Nonetheless, the sixth grade rose to the occasion to become part of E.H.S.

Sixth grade science is better than Scminex.

Like sports, music is a way of life in Greentown and at EHS. Students start at a tender age tapping and blowing and plunking. The elementary and middle school bands are only one step in the long road of accomplishment. Perhaps not as polished as the varsity or stage band, but at graduation eighth graders are able to fill the gap left by the seniors. The choir too, adds its support to the musical program at Eastern while voices are changing from tenor to baritone and nylons are a new addition to a girl's wardrobe.

"One more puff and I'll take up the flute!"

The pause that refreshes. Time-out during rehearsal.

There is nothing more depressing than an empty music room — unless it's a full one.

Invaluable Assistance

The office assistants helped out whenever needed and picked up those dreaded absentee slips. There were also bookstore aides which help supply our students with the essentials of learning. Mr. Freelan's group assisted teachers in finding things like movie projectors and films. And also the library aides who help you locate a book for a class which you really don't want.

Office Assts. — L-R: Kay Keyton, Vicky Whiteman, Kitty Froelich, Mindy Butler, Jody Hummel, Anita Summers, Gayle Froelich.

Service Staffs Keep Things Running Smoothly

Truman Johnson, Bill Lamb, David Shoemaker.

The custodial and maintenance staffs helped ensure a clean and well taken care of school. Much time was spent repairing and cleaning, and it was appreciated by all very much.

The kitchen staff also worked very hard in making the shorter lunch periods enjoyable.

A special note of thanks and appreciation is extended to the maintenance staff. The Aurora regrets that no picture of Archie Goldings crew was taken due to scheduling problems. The work done by this staff is greatly appreciated by everyone at Eastern.

Row 1: Shirley Rund, Beulah Dryer, Martha Armstrong, Shirley Frakes, Sue Summers, Shiela Butler.

TV Club Gets Late Start but Picks Up Quickly

Although the TV Club was begun late in the year, the young men and women who worked on the staff put much effort into the project to make it a success. Many long and dedicated hours were spent in learning the basics of television broadcast and perfecting the knowledge they had gained to produce the weekly news over WEHS, the school's own television station. Every Friday students in classrooms turned to channel two on the school's closed circuit television sets and listened to the news of the week and the important announcements for the day.

Members of the TV staff could be very proud of their accomplishments.

A very tired Mark Bardsley trudges to another assignment as one of the cameramen for the TV staff.

PE Helpers — Front: Risa Lyons, Patty Shaw, Vickie Dryer, Margie Yohn, Diana McGuire. Back: Andy Kistler, Barb Riddle, Debbie Flook, Ellen Land, Len Hainlen.

To look at anything,
If you would know that thing,
You must look at it long:
To look at this green and say
"I have seen spring in these Woods," will not do — you must
Be the thing you see:
You must be the dark snakes of
Stems and ferny plumes of leaves,
You must enter in
To the small silences between
The leaves,
You must take your time
And touch the very peace
They issue from.

The annual would like to thank all those who worked so hard on the yearbook this year. Also, a special note of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jenkins and Cary Grant for all their help and cooperation.

OUT OR IN?

Change was the word that symbolized the beginning of the 74-75 school year. A new principal brought new ideas. Stricter enforcement of school rules, shorter lunch periods and rearranged schedules added to the confusion at first. But soon everything fell into order. A 10-0 football record was a source of school pride and more rivalry felt toward old foes. The band's achievements were another highlight of the year. The 25th graduating class ended their year with a bang, but afterward, silence reigned over senior hall. Some may think the seniors were taking an out, but actually they were taking an in. Entering into the world to make their own way in life.
